ENGIE announces the departure of Ana Busto, Executive Vice President, Brand and Communication

After nearly four years at ENGIE, Ana Busto will leave her position as Executive Vice President, Brand and Communication at the end of June 2020.

Ana BUSTO joined the ENGIE Executive Committee in October 2016, as part of the launch of the Group's transformation plan and a new corporate project, to work on the structuring and deployment of the Group's brand and communication.

Claire Waysand, interim Chief Executive Officer, said: "I warmly thank Ana Busto for her commitment and essential contribution to the transformation of the Group over the last few years. Ana put her expertise and convictions at the service of ENGIE to establish the Group's image as a leader in the energy transition."

Ana Busto added: "I am very pleased to have been able to take part in the Group's tremendous transformation, and in particular to have contributed to translating a visionary ambition into a brand of commitment, which today makes ENGIE the key player in the transition to inclusive carbon neutrality."

During the transition period, the brand and communication department will report to Claire Waysand, the Group's interim Chief Executive Officer.

About ENGIE
